On 18 and 19 February 2026, we will be taking all our work on the Clinical Services Plan to an extraordinary meeting of the Board. This will include the findings from the consultation, the options we consulted on, the options shared with us during the consultation, and the assessments on how these options could impact individuals, communities and our regional stakeholders.

All of this information will be used to help the Board decide on the future model for nine clinical services. Taking place over two days, this will give Board members the time needed to review the evidence, understand the connections between services, identify if further information is required and reach decisions that best serve our communities.

As part of the decision-making process, proposals will be assessed on whether they are clinically sustainable, deliverable, accessible, aligned to the Health Board's long-term strategy, and financially sustainable.

In some options, the Board may need to make provisional decisions that require further engagement or additional information before a final option is agreed. The Board will also consider how the changes can be implemented and whether this will need to be in phases, over time.
